CHAPTER VII.

THE spot selected for the meeting was not near by, since Virginia's earl governor had forbidden encounters within a ten mile of a military camp. Foy rode thither with his seconds, Rolph and a lieutenant in the royal forces.

"I like not these night affairs," spoke the lieutenant. "Dew is slippery, and the light deceives. I have known of accidents."

Foy cut in with a laugh of contempt. "Twill be an accident if I fail," he said. "If I send not my soul a-scurry to hell for that glass!"

"I mind me that fight at Minden," said the lieutenant musingly. "Twas no white night such as this, but black as the Earl of Hell's riding boots. Roots and silny grass and—"

Foy cursed him, with his hand shaking on his rein. "Let that alone for now," he snarled. "They lied on they said he slipped. They lied! 'Twas fair, I tell you!"

"Aye," said the other, surprised. "'Twas a fair thrust. None doubted it."

"Where are your wits?" said Rolph, reining close. "Know you no better topic? When you have tried the young upstart, Foy, we shall have a toddy to-night. This air has an agree."

A lantern had been set at the byroad, and at this Henry and Armand turned into the open space. The curving road on the higher Blue Ridge slope had been delicately grayed with a gossamer mist creeping up from the late downs. Here it had risen thicker, curdling more deeply against the ground and sopping the air with the smell of wet beech bark. With the sailing moon above, it was like going in some murky, dull toned world where near things were shadowy and far vanished into opaque whiteness.

The other party was in waiting, the horses, in charge of a groom, tethered near by under clusters of black scarred, white stemmed birches, which stirred dimly as if afraid. Through their moving branches fitful flashes of fog-mixed moonlight filtered whitely on Foy, striding up and down, slashing off goldenrod heads with his sword and listening to the rustle of late rabbits, scurrying.

"Gentlemen," said Henry gravely, "know you no means by which this meeting may be avoided?"

"The young cock's crowing less loudly, eh?" Foy turned to his seconds with a rolling laugh.

A quick word of anger was on Armand's lips as he faced Henry, which died as Burnaby spoke:

"Let him to his knees and ask Captain Foy to use his riding whip instead of his sword."

The Frenchman's laugh rang out clearly and loud. "I have seen M. le Capitaine ride. If he uses his sword as poorly as his whip—"

"Damnation!" said Foy. "Measure those swords, Rolph, and be quick about it."

Henry held Armand's coat and waistcoat after he had stripped them off and stood, slight and young, in his shirt. He looked at him with rising pity. All Virginia knew of Foy's sword skill. He had a black record in the army of Duke Ferdinand of Brunswick, and these tales had been whispered wide in Williamsburg. There he had come to no open quarrel as yet and was made a boon companion by such pot tipsters as Burnaby Rolph and lesser toad eaters like young Brooke. But the better class gave him a cold shoulder as unworthy to mix with gentlemen of character and would have needed little to have named him to his face for a sneaking whelp that smelled strong of the hangman.

The young Frenchman took Henry's hand between both his own. "I have been so occupied these last three hours," he protested contritely. "Have I said to you that you are generous and kind to assist thus in the affair of a stranger? Have I said that I was grateful?"

"Colonel Washington," said Henry, "is my best friend. An I had been in the inn parlor, sir, I had drunk that toast with you."

The night was very still. Scarce a leaf stirred in the vagrant breeze or shivered in the haze. Only a dull humming chirr of night insects from the thicket and drifting across this—a gold snake on a sad carpet—the rich, plaintive bubble of a whippoorwill.

"Gentlemen," cried Rolph, "is all ready?"

"Have you no command, monsieur?" Henry asked.

The young man's eyes were soft as he shook his head. "How sweet it sings!" he said. "Listen!"

It died, and the tapping of a bell, very faint and far and tenuous, came over the still valley. Henry knew the sound. Away to the eastward on a high knoll, stood a long, low structure of limestone, with a wide veranda.

Perched upon its roof were two wooden bellies with alarm bells, which had been hung twenty years before, after Braddock's defeat, when the Indians turned their tomahawks against the white chief that dwelt there. The Indians had been driven westward long ago, but the bells still rang whenever the master, with yelping bounds or by flaring torches, came back to his lodge.

At this moment, while Armand stood in the moonlight with a naked sword in his hand, my Lord Fairfax, for whose affront he stood, was come again saddened to Greenway Court.

Foy's voice broke in, sneeringly wrathful. "Are we come to string beads?"

"En garde!" cried Armand, turning sharply, and the two blades rang together with a clash.

Foy's attack was wonderfully strong. He had the trick of carrying the head well back and resting the whole weight of his body upon the left leg, a sign of one whose learning had been without masks. The other's method was as different from that of his antagonist as night from day. He fought far forward, engaging much with the point.

A maître d'escrime might have seen in his action some of the freedom and directness which later gave Bertrand, the greatest fencing master of Europe, the surname of the "Terrible." But to the watchers it seemed to be utterly without method—barren of rule—to be loose, uncontained. He possessed the appearance of a child at careless play with a serpent, not conscious of its sinister intention.

A pain came into Henry's dark eyes and a paler tinge to his cheeks. He groaned inwardly as Foy suddenly came at Armand, pressing him back in a furious chase-croise, first the right foot forward, then the left.

The lieutenant stood close to Henry, his lips parted, watching. "They say Foy was taught of Angelo," he whispered, "and that the pupil could best his master. Your friend is in evil case."

Another club woman, Mrs. Haulc, of Edgerton, Wis., tells how she was cured of irregularities and uterine trouble, terrible pains and backache, by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—A while ago my health began to fail because of female troubles. The doctor did not help me. I remembered that my mother had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on many occasions for irregularities and uterine troubles, and I felt sure that it could not harm me at any rate to give it a trial.

"I was certainly glad to find that within a week I felt much better, the terrible pains in the back and side were beginning to cease, and at the time of menstruation I did not have nearly as serious a time as heretofore, so I continued its use for two months, and at the end of that time I was like a new woman. I really have never felt better in my life, have not had a sick headache since, and weigh 20 pounds more than I ever did, so I unhesitatingly recommend your medicine."—Miss MAY HATTLE, Edgerton, Wis., Pres. Household Economics Club. —$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

So indeed it seemed. Foy was a brute, and he fought like one, with face distorted and breath rattling with rage. He came on with the lunge of a hunter at a boar, his blade heavy, and the very fury of his rush sent the young Frenchman back to the verge of the bushes.

Armand returned with a stop thrust, parried a lunge and answered by a riposte. Then for a moment there was nothing but the du-tac-an-tac of slim steel, cutting wayward blue white flashes where the milky light caught its edge.

"End the cub, Foy," cried Rolph with an oath, "and let us to town! You could have split him forty times!"

"By heaven!" suddenly burst out Henry. "Bravo!"

The Frenchman's blade, beating up a flamme, had nicked a crimson gash on Foy's shoulder.

The latter, smarting from the prick and enraged beyond measure, came on again cursing, his chin set forward from his neck and a flock of foam on his lips.

Armand had changed his tactics. He still had the appearance of looseness and lack of close defense; but, strangely enough, Foy's point, though wielded by the redoubtable swordsman that he was, had not so much as silt a ruffle of his shirt. He was untouched, immaculate, careless and debonair.

Now he became of a sudden winged. He turned, circled, was here and there with the rapidity of an insect. The fight turned this way and that, crushed the bushes, was all over the ground. There was a maze of pricking, whirling arrows of sulphur colored flame in the moonlight. Foy's breath was coming hoarsely in his throat like that of a strangled dog. Armand began to laugh outright as he thrust and parried.

The lieutenant wedged an exclamation amid the flick and scrape of steel. Foy's face was become a welter of sweat and rage. This was a sort of fighting new to him. He tried every attack, every feint, double engage, coupe—each ineffectual. Armand, nimble, laughing, began to hum a tune as he ran.

Nothing could have been better calculated to goad his adversary to point of impotency. Already Foy had begun to cut and lunge in utter, whirling madness. Rolph no longer called to him to end the matter. All alike saw that such ending was fast coming into Armand's power alone.

THE YALU VICTORY

London Rejoices With Japan Over Success of Mikado's Troops.

ARDENT ADMIRATION

Is Expressed By Britons For the Brilliancy of Japanese Campaign On the Yalu.

The English at Last Realize That They Have an Ally Worth While.

London, May 3.—The latest dispatches received here confirming the completeness of the Japanese victory on the Yalu, could hardly have given greater satisfaction in Tokio than they have done in London. The editorials in today's papers ring with admiration at the success of General Kuroki's strategy in a manner indicating that Great Britain has been in considerable doubt of the capacity of her ally's troops when matched against the Russians; and despite the lack by Japan of good cavalry to follow up her victory, it is believed that she will speedily drive the Russians out of Feng Huan Cheng also. Few other details have yet been received, but it seems that the Japanese imperial guards fought with conspicuous bravery and sustained the brunt of the fighting, losing heavily. Some dispatches speak of bayonet charges. It is evident that the Japanese success is largely due to the superiority of their artillery, the Russian guns being too light.

The Japanese victory has caused complete surprise in the European capitals, and it is expected to lead to difficulty in Russia's efforts to raise a loan.

An unconfirmed report of severe fighting between 3,000 Russians and a similar number of Japanese at Gensan is sent by a St. Petersburg correspondent, who says the Japanese were compelled to retire into Gensan, both sides losing heavily. Two Russian officers are said to have been among the wounded.

A Tien Tsin correspondent, cabling under date of May 2, states that Viceroy Alexieff has sent a lengthy dispatch to General Ma, commanding the Chinese troops, informing him that the occasion may arise for Russia to increase her forces in Sin-Min-Tung, Chen-Yang and other places, and requesting him to withdraw the Chinese military and police. An answer, the correspondent says, is required within three days.

As an indication of General Kuropatkin's anxiety regarding the whereabouts of Japan's second army, a Shanghai correspondent says that all the Russian troops stationed in Chang Chu, Fu Chau, Hai Cheng, Kai Ping and other places have been dispatched along the sea-coast to watch for a Japanese landing.

According to a Shan-Hai-Kwan correspondent, evidence is accumulating that China's neutrality is tottering. The Tartar generals in Kirin and Feng Tien, the correspondent says, are urging the Peking government to adopt a strong policy against Russian aggression west of the Liao river. It is alleged that Viceroy Yuan Shai-Kai is secretly making war preparations and everything, in the opinion of the correspondent, points toward China making a military demonstration against either belligerent fighting west of the Liao river.

A special dispatch from Port Arthur says that about 100 Chinese junkies were observed on the horizon yesterday between the mouth of the Yalu and the Liao Tung peninsula.

HOW IT WAS DONE

Russian General Staff Describes the Yalu Retreat.

St. Petersburg, May 3.—The general staff has given out an outline of the operations on the Yalu river during the past week. The Russian force, including the reserves, was composed of General Kashtalinsky's rifle division, General Mstchynsky's Cossack outposts and a brigade of artillery, the whole under General Sassulitch. The Russian lines were at Kulein Cheng or Turenchen, opposite Wiju and Antung, both on the Feng Wang Cheng road. A mile north of Kulein Cheng lies the village of Potietnky, near a tributary of the Litzavona, five miles up which is Chin Gow. On the opposite bank of the tributary is the village of Litzavona; opposite Potietnky stands Housan, with a dominating height. Still higher, on the right of the Yalu, is the village of Ambikhe, at the confluence of the Alpike. The whole course of the Yalu between Ambikhe and Antung is divided by islands, the largest, Somalinda, facing Kulein Cheng. Another lies between Housan and Sindiagow. The Japanese forces, the staff believes, approximated 100,000 men, of which four divisions, thirteen battalions and fifty-six guns were in action. The Japanese prepared for crossing the river by posting all their available guns, of which the Russians say the Japanese had five times more than they along the line facing Kulein Cheng and Antung, and also landed from their warships forty-seven guns. This array of artillery eventually made Kulein Cheng untenable. Under cover of powerful batteries north of Sindiagow, the Japanese crossed to Housan, occupying the height. As the latter position would have enabled them to direct a raking fire against the Russians at Kulein Cheng, General Salsulitch ordered it to be retaken Friday. This was done, but on Saturday the Japanese under cover of a battery reoccupied it, the defenders falling back across the Litzavona and continuing the fight with the Japanese, who were attempting to flank them from Chin Gow. The Russian force at Antung and Kulein Cheng had meanwhile retreated to its second line a few miles westward. The whole Russian force engaged Sunday and formed a semi-circle, the horns of which were being gradually drawn in preparatory to retiring to a position further west. This was the situation when the last Russian official reports were sent.

A member of the staff says that the issue ultimately turned probably upon whether the order to withdraw was given at the proper time. A slight delay at a critical moment might have enabled the enemy's vastly superior artillery to concentrate on the Russian guns, killing horses and gunners and compelling the abandonment of the guns. But if so, the Russian plans will not be changed by accidental losses. General Salsulitch would continue his retreat, contesting stubbornly a possible Japanese advance along the Feng Wan Cheng road, which runs through a hilly country, crowned with heights and exactly suited to Russian tactics.

RUSSIAN ANXIETY

Rumor Is Supplying the Lack of Official Reports.

St. Petersburg, May 3.—The interest of the public in the news of the fighting on the Yalu is at fever heat, especially since the last official report which announced the fighting at Chin Gow was given out. To the general disappointment, no further telegrams from General Kuropatkin have been published by the war commission, nor will the censor pass press dispatches wired from the front.

The absence of news led to the circulation of wild rumors. For instance, it was reported that General Salsulitch would be relieved of his command and court-martialed for making too strenuous a stand on the right bank of the Yalu. As a matter of fact, while the war office is surprised at the resistance made by General Salsulitch, a telegram from General Kuropatkin to the emperor on April 26 announced that Salsulitch, in view of the preparations which the Japanese were making to cross the Yalu, had begun to reinforce his troops on the Manchurian bank.

Another report says the war office has been informed that the Russian casualties numbered 2,000. Should this be true, it can be accepted as a certainty that the Russian plan of operations never contemplated such a sacrifice. In view of the cautious advance of the Japanese it is not expected that they will quickly follow up Salsulitch, but will take a few days in getting the remainder of their troops and supplies across the river and in clearing the country of Russian detachments in order that their communications may not be exposed to attack.

PRESIDENT IS FIRM

In His Annual Message to Congress President Alves Outlines the Brazilian Contention.

Dispute Between Neighbors Will Be Met With Firm Hand at Rio Janeiro.

Rio Janeiro, Brazil, May 3.—Congress opened today. President Alves in his message opening the session, said that the expression by all organs of opinion regarding the treaties of Acre and Petropolis has convinced the government that it has acted in the interests of the country.

Referring to the Peruvian question President Alves says that after the conclusion of the Petropolis treaty Peru was left free to present her allegations regarding the possession of certain territories in Brazil which she considers hers; but he declares that the government will not open negotiations until the Peruvian troops shall have retired from the zone in litigation and that during the pending of the question Brazil will not permit the Peruvian authorities to control the Brazilian population established there.

Death to Circus Animals.

Pawnee City, Neb., May 3.—A circus train arrived here and one of the animal keepers went through the elephant cars to see that all was right, when the gasoline torch which he carried exploded in flames and all the animals in the car were burned. IT SCARES PEOPLE

Men and women who have been afflicted with obstinate coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, emaciation and weakness, have been perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures the cough, heals the lungs, and builds up the body with solid flesh.

"When I commenced taking your medicines, eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sunderland, of Chantilly, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pains in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Doctor Pierce's medicines. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better. The doctor directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Pelle's.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

The republican state committee has fixed May 8 as the date that the six months poll must be completed in every precinct in Indiana.

The Hearst people have been getting the best of the Parker crowd in Indiana and Illinois the past few days. Hearst is sure of some delegates from Indiana unless the unit rule is applied. He has a clear majority in the Thirteenth district.

The republicans over the state are expressing their thorough appreciation of the splendid state ticket nominated last week. The platform declarations are everywhere meeting the approval of the people. Certainly a great victory awaits the republican party in Indiana next November.

SOME of the democratic state politicians are giving about their full time in the endeavor to get candidates to announce for the state offices, but with poor success. They know there is no show for the democrats in Indiana in this year of 1904, yet they hope to be able to put out a full ticket and try to keep up the organization.

AMONG the prominent men who will speak in Indiana during the coming campaign under the direction of the republican state ticket are Senators Wm. B. Allison, of Iowa, Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, John C. Spooner, of Wisconsin, Chauncey M. Depauw, of New York, J. V. Quarles, of Wisconsin, Knute Nelson, of Minnesota, Jonathan P. A great deal of interest is being taken and the workers have been very busy all day. The indications are for an unusually heavy vote. The day has been an ideal election day.

When the polls were opened at 6 o'clock this morning there were several early waiters to cast their ballots and they have kept coming steadily all day. At 3 o'clock this afternoon the vote polled in the several wards was as follows:

1st Ward.....	331
2nd Ward.....	298
3rd Ward.....	210
4th Ward.....	181
5th Ward.....	270

Total.....1290

The total voting population of Seymour is in the neighborhood of 1500.

The polls close this evening at 6 o'clock and then the count-out will begin. It will probably be 10 o'clock or later before the count is complete. Returns will be received at the REPUBLICAN office.

Greatest Force In the Business World

That man has the key of the situation who realizes the fact that advertising is the greatest force in the business world today. Advertising is one of the great arms of the sales department. The great army of traveling salesmen is the other arm. When these two learn to work together success is sure. Advertising has lifted business to a higher plane than any other force. The department stores have entered into competition, and each has improved its service that it may have a more compelling story to tell. Many practical things hitherto unknown have become everyday necessities in our homes because advertising brought them into notice. The increase of package food products is the direct result of advertising. Unclea Biscuit was prepared simply to have something to advertise—a peg to hang the other products of the National Biscuit company on. It was successful because it filled a long felt want of the public. The conduct of a great business today makes as great demand on the fearlessness and originality of its leaders as that of any other profession. The thinkers of today find in advertising a field of action far beyond anything in the past. There are more worlds to conquer. A manufacturer who has a "good thing" may have an entire nation for his patron if only he is willing to sow that he may reap, to scatter abroad that he may gather.—Ernest Elmo Calkins in Judicious Advertising.

What Advertising Did.

The advertising of their label by the United Garment Workers of America has increased the demand for union made garments so rapidly that in the past year there were sent out 34,500,000 labels for all kinds of garments, says the Outlook. This is an increase in one year of 11,000,000 labels, or just about the period that the union's cards have been running in street cars and its ads. in the leading magazines.—Printers' Ink.

SOME WOMEN—

Pose in public and do it in an exceedingly clumsy way.

Carry on a conversation in a tone that savors of scolding.

Show a spirit of happiness on the smallest possible capital.

Lose the regard of men by being too exacting in their demands.

Have an idea men constantly are trying to attract their attention.

Use terms of endearment which convey neither sense nor meaning.

Impart a flavor of comfort to everything of which they are a part.

Want the world to regard them as an authority on all social questions.

Talk so much about loves of the past that there is a suspicion of boasting.

Have a manner about them that is positively exasperating.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

THE MCKINLEY MONUMENT

All Classes and Conditions of Men Contribute to Fund.

Indianapolis, May 3.—Senator Chas. W. Fairbanks left for New York to attend a meeting of the McKinley Monument association, May 9. He is one of the directors. About $500,000, he says, has been raised. Indiana has contributed between $17,000 and $12,000. "The money," said Senator Fairbanks, "has come from all classes and conditions of men from all over the United States and from foreign countries." The monument is to be erected at Canton, Ohio, the home of the late president. Senator Fairbanks is going to stop at Springfield, O., for a brief visit with his mother en route to New York.

Unless the unit rule is adopted or the delegation is instructed, it does not seem likely now that National Committeeman Taggart, Chairman O'Brien and their associates will be able to "make good" the claim that William Randolph Hearst will not get an Indiana delegate to the convention at St. Louis. They will probably lose the Twelfth district on the face of the returns from Allen county, indicating that Hearst has a large majority there. J. Oscar Henderson, Hearst's manager in Indiana, claims the Twelfth. He says that every county in the district is about equally divided except LaGrange, which has instructed for Hearst. Henry Collier of Ft. Wayne and Dr. F. M. Hines of Auburn will be the latter's candidates for delegates in the Twelfth. It was stated today that the Hearst candidates for delegates-at-large will be W. R. Myers of Anderson, former secretary of state; John H. O'Neal of Washington, State Senator Lewis V. Urey of Fort Wayne, and James McCabe of Williamsport, former supreme judge. The state convention for the purpose of selecting delegates to the national convention will be held here May 12.

Hanly's Rise.

The next governor of Indiana is the son of a poor, blind widow, whom he supported when a boy, by honest toil at the hardest kind of labor, that of digging ditches or any other work he could lay his hand to. He came up out of honest poverty and stands today among the ablest men in the great State of Indiana. His life is an inspiration to every boy whose lot is cast among the sons of toil. His story is that of the "Short and simple annals of the poor." Hanly's life is similar to that of Abraham Lincoln in its humble beginning in its marvelous development and in its eminent success. He will be elected.

Obituary.

Eliza Ruth Harding, a cousin of J. H. Andrews, of this city, also of A. M. Harding, formerly of Seymour, was born near Milan, Ripley county, Indiana, December 6th, 1824, and died at the home of her son in Chicago, April 23, 1903, aged seventy-nine years, four months and seventeen days. Her father was David Harding, a brother of Hon. Stephen Harding, a prominent lawyer of southern Indiana and for some years Territorial Governor of Utah. David Harding served his country in the war of 1812. Her grandfather, Captain David Harding, was a soldier of the Revolution. It was he who commanded the little band who defended their homes against the incursion of Canadians and Indians in the Wyoming Valley in 1778.

Her more remote ancestors came to America in 1721, one year after the landing of the Mayflower. Her mother was Eunice Sumner, a first cousin of Hon. Charles Sumner of Massachusetts.

She was married to Williams W. Agnew, Nov. 1st, 1843. They lived happily together until his death on April 21, 1903. She died on the first anniversary of his burial. Five children were born to this union, three of whom survive, Mrs. B. F. Hoefgen, of Indianapolis, Senator Nathan L., of Valparaiso, and William Harding, of Chicago, Illinois, all of whom were with her in her last illness.

When the first gun was fired over Fort Sumpter, this daughter of an heroic race, without a murmur, gave her husband to the service of her country and remained in the home with her little children. Her husband was captain of Company B, 8th Regiment, Indiana Volunteer Infantry, and served with great bravery in the army of the Cumberland until the close of the war, returning home in June, 1865.

Thoughtful People.

Are every day showing their appreciation of the Specialist, who devotes his entire time and study to acquiring knowledge along the lines of his chosen profession.

The peculiarities of the eye—eye strain, and the nervous conditions generally found in the latter cases, are receiving constant study at our hands. Is it any wonder that with our knowledge and conscientious disposition, to do all things well which we undertake—on a positive guarantee—that we have obtained the confidence of the public?

It is only an evidence of the honesty and capabilities of our efforts bringing deserved returns. Every patient prescribed for, brings us others, which is responsible for the great number whom we are benefiting.

If your eyes cause you trouble, if you are nervous and irritable, if you do not sleep well at night and have headaches. Remember that we make Free examinations from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., that you may learn if your eyes are the cause. Mr. and Mrs. Harsh, Optometrists, Eye Sight Specialists, No. 74 N. Chestnut St.

LIVING FROM HAND TO MOUTH.

It Means Starvation for Some.

An eminent physician of this city recently said: "Very thin people live from hand to mouth, and have little reserve for emergencies." Of course we know of persons whose nature it is to be thin—"born that way," some say, but there is a healthy standard by which a person who knows himself can gauge his good health or poor health. If for any reason he or she is below his or her normal weight, then it is wise to look out for trouble. In case the germs of grippe, typhoid, or consumption gain an entrance to the body they find a fertile field and develop immediately. We can only compare this sudden taking on of disease germs by the thin body, to the fertile field which lays fallow until an unfortunate wind carries the seeds of some wild and worthless plant there and they quickly root and flourish. Almost any grave change in health is at once betrayed by the loss of flesh, which shows most often in the face. This condition almost always co-exists with impoverished blood. A gain of flesh up to a certain point means a rise in the essentials of health; the red corpuscles of the blood are increased, and the color improved. When persons find themselves losing weight they should heed the warning, and use the proper means in time before disease fastens on them. A tonic alternative is needed to digest and assimilate the food.

Cod-Liver Oil was the old fashioned remedy for a run-down system, or a chronic wasting disease. The digestion of the oil is a task for the healthiest stomach, and sensitive stomachs rebel against it. A great improvement in the means employed for the benefit and cure of such cases is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which maintains the nutrition of the body by enabling the person to eat, retain, digest and assimilate food. It overcomes indigestion if present, soothes the cough, and, by its alternative properties, cleanses the blood. All the organs therefore are fed on pure, rich blood; and the person using the "Golden Medical Discovery" gains in flesh and strength. Fever, night-sweats, headache, are dispelled. It is just the remedy for the Consumptive, for the victim of Catarrh of the Lungs, or the sufferer from Bronchitis.

MAKING HIM LOOK PLEASANT.

Is an easy thing when we quote our prices on building lumber. A pleasant surprise always awaits the contractor and builder when he visits our yard after getting prices elsewhere and seeing the superior quality of high grade lumber, hard-wood trim, flooring, laths, shingles and that we are selling at bed-rock prices. Our lumber is of high quality, well seasoned and beyond competition, price considered.

will be cheerfully paid in lawful money of the United States, by the undersigned, proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, if they cannot show the original letters and signatures of every testimonial among the thousands attesting the superior curative properties of their several medicines, and thus proving the genuineness and reliability of all the multitude of testimonials volunteered by grateful people, in their behalf.

Mr. Roy A. Reed, of Casper, Wyoming, writes: "For eight years I had catarrh of the throat in the worst form; could hardly speak above a whisper for two years. Tried nearly a dozen patent medicines without relief. I was so discouraged that I just about decided catarrh could not be cured with any medicine. My father, however, advised me to try Dr. Pierce's medicines before giving up. I followed his advice and commenced using the medicine on the twentieth of December. I was surprised to note the result of the first month's treatment. After using six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, I was perfectly cured. It has been months since I took the last medicine, and I have not had the least return of my trouble. I have felt better during the past two months than for seven winters previous to this time."

Mrs. Lydia James, of Ogdensburg, Wis., writes: "In regard to your medicine will say that the 'Golden Medical Discovery' is a God-send to suffering women. I was sick in bed with liver complaint and kidney disease and fever when I began to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In ten days' time I was so I could begin to get around the house, and gained right along. After that, took about five bottles of it and am sure I would have been in my bed by this time had it not been for this remedy. I would advise all suffering women to use Dr. Pierce's medicine."

Mrs. Robt. Lambden, of Havana, N. Dak., Box 4, writes: "No one can tell how much I suffered with my leg. It was so bad for a year I could hardly walk around to do my work, and at times could not even bear the weight of a sheet over me at night, but your medicines cured me. My leg is quite well again. After I had taken two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, I began to feel very different and kept getting better. Took nine bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' also used Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, and now my leg is as well as it ever was. Am willing every one should know what good your medicines have done, and would advise any one suffering as I did to try the same treatment. I think and feel sure it will help them."

THE REASON.—There is no medicine equal to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. It carries off the poisons which contaminate the life fluid. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands and gives the body an increased supply of pure, body-building blood. It builds up the body with sound, healthy flesh instead of flabby fat, promotes the appetite, feeds the nerves, and so gives weak, nervous people vitality and vigor. There is no alcohol contained in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

MINES TIED UP

Twelve Thousand Miners Out in Ohio Sub-District.
Wheeling, W. Va., May 3.—Between 11,000 and 12,000 coal miners in the eastern portion of Ohio sub-district No. 5, went on strike yesterday because of their failure to reach an agreement with the operators. President Worker of the coal miners arrived in Bridgeport today, and will conduct the strike from that point. He has already counseled peaceable methods in an address to the miners. It is understood that the operators will meet in Cleveland this week to consider the situation. Four counties in West Virginia withdrew from the sub-district, with the consent of both operators and miners, because of the different conditions here, and now constitute the Pan Handle district. Although the Pan Handle miners are also out, they are not without hope of settlement with the operators within a fortnight.

FINAL JUDGMENT

Highest Court Says James Lynchehaun Is a Free Man.

Washington, May 3.—The attempt to extradite Thomas Walsh or James Lynchehaun, who is wanted by Great Britain, has failed as the result of the decision of the case by the supreme court of the United States.

Lynchehaun was sentenced to life imprisonment in Ireland for assault and battery. He escaped from prison and was arrested in Indianapolis by Marshal Pettit on a warrant issued by Commissioner Childs of New York. The court below held that Walsh or Lynchehaun should have been given an examination in Indiana before turning him over to New York. This decision was affirmed by the supreme court and the order of the discharge was declared to have been correct.

An Open Letter.

From the Capin, S. C., News: Early in the spring my wife and I were taken with diarrhoea and so severe were the pains that we called a physician who prescribed for us, but his medicines failed to give us any relief. A friend who had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand gave each of us a dose and we at once felt the effects. I procured a bottle and before using the entire contents we were entirely cured. It is a wonderful remedy and should be found in every household. H. C. Bailey, Editor. This remedy is for sale by C. W. Milhous.

Revelers Paid the Bill.

Lebanon, Ind., May 3.—Hoover Turpin and Miss Ethel Ross were united in marriage, beginning housekeeping in their home near Fayette. Revelers visited them on their wedding night and exploded a quantity of dynamite in a tree alongside the house. The tree was shattered to pieces, weatherboarding was torn from the house, windows were broken, plastering was knocked off, and Mrs. Turpin was rendered unconscious. The revelers paid damages to property and were not arrested.

A Foolish Man's Bet.

Cleveland, O., May 3.—D. B. Evans of Bowling Green, Ohio, has started from the city hall here for San Francisco, pushing a wheelbarrow to pay an election bet. Evans wagered that Mayor Johnson would be elected governor of Ohio last fall, the loser to push a wheelbarrow across the continent from Cleveland to San Francisco and return, and also to make the journey without money. Evans expects to earn enough to pay his expenses en route.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, remember the name, Swamp Root. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

KING OF FORGERS

Coming Trial of Robert J. Knox Is Attracting Much Interest.

PROSECUTED BY BANKS

It Is Alleged That Members of American Bankers' Association Have Lost Fully $100,000.

The Expert Handiwork of Knox Is Said to Be Behind These Heavy Losses.

Portland, Indiana, May 3.—Judge Vaughn of Bluffton has been appointed special judge to try Robert J. Knox, alleged king of forgers, and his agent, John Schoonover, alias H. B. Gordon. The trial begins May 23 and may occupy many days. The principal testimony will be offered by members of the Pinkerton national detective agency, and a number of leading American handwriting experts will be called to examine numerous raised checks and drafts, which will be introduced in evidence. The state will try to show that various banks in the American Bankers' association have lost over $100,000 by the operations of Knox and his gang. Another member of the gang, H. Irving Andrews, has been arrested at Alpena, Mich. Andrews was indicted last week by the grand jury at Brooklyn, N. Y., charged with defrauding the Nassau Trust company of Brooklyn out of $19,000 by raised drafts, which are charged to the expert handiwork of Robert J. Knox. Andrews was known in Brooklyn as E. M. Witherout.

FATAL ACCIDENT

Fireman Scalded When Manhead of Locomotive Blew Out.

Marion, Ind., May 3.—The manhead on the boiler of a Toledo, St. Louis & Western locomotive blew out as the locomotive, drawing an east-bound express, was approaching the city limits. Fireman Joseph Wustner was struck in the head by the flying piece of iron and his skull was crushed. Live steam scalded his body and blew him from the cab.

Engineer Charles Major escaped to the running board and was not seriously scalded. The train was running at forty miles an hour, and was sent for a quarter of a mile by its velocity. Wustner was found lying by the track in an unconscious condition and was brought to the Marion hospital. Physicians say he is fatally injured. Wustner is thirty years old. He lived with his mother and sister in Delphos, Ohio.

Eig Stockyards Blaze.

Indianapolis, May 3.—Fire of unknown origin partially destroyed the Union Stockyards early this morning. Within half an hour after the alarm was turned in, so rapid was the spread of the fire, that the feed barn, Cattle Alleys 500 and 400 and part of 300 were a burning wreck and completely destroyed. Samuel Rauh, president of the Union Stockyards company, estimated the loss at not less than $400,000, fully covered by insurance. Luckily the stock of cattle at the yards was unusually light last night and of the 200 head in the sheds only about 30 were burned.

Strikers Were Fined.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 3.—A mule was left in the Lattas creek mine over night by a driver, and the company discharged the driver. Forty other drivers then went on strike, and the state officers of the miners' and operators' associations were called upon to adjust the trouble. Yesterday afternoon the strike was settled by the United Mine Workers' officers confirming the discharge of the driver, and assessing a fine against the other drivers who went on strike.

Admits Safe Robbery.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 3.—Sam Pearson, the Seelyville coal miner in jail here, has made a complete confession to dynamiting and robbing the safe of Wolfe & Burgen's store at Seelyville. Pearson says he blew the safe with the assistance of Perry Walton. Walton is also in jail. They deny any knowledge of the robbery of the Clay City bank, which occurred a day after the Seelyville robbery, and from which the looters secured $6,000.

A Woman's Fatal Mistake.

Vincennes, Ind., May 3.—Mrs. Esther Adams, a widow, died in great agony as the result of taking a dose of wrong medicine. When Mrs. Adams went to get her medicine she made a mistake and drank out of the wrong bottle. She became deathly sick and died before a doctor could be secured.

Peacemaker Got Worst of It.

Marion, Ind., May 3.—James Cash and James Thomas engaged in a rough-and-tumble fight, and when Daniel Reason tried to separate them he was stabbed by Cash to his very serious injury. The fight occurred during a Sunday ball game.

Gilepie Case Goes Over.

Rising Sun, Ind., May 3.—The trial of James Gillespie on the charge of assassinating his sister, Miss Elizabeth Gillespie, some months ago, was called Monday morning and continued until Monday, May 9, by Judge Downing.
